“ I met Carolann when she took my Environmental Science class in 2014. I am so lucky to have met her. She was as talented as she was generous. She cared deeply about the environment. Later in one of her art classes she did many pieces on environmental issues. Like all her art those were amazing and tugged at your heartstrings. She encouraged me to draw and paint. Wanted me to be bold and fearless with colors. She was such a good friend. I am shocked and deeply saddened. ”

“ I met Carolann when I was a grad student at SJSU. She was so friendly and welcoming I felt like I had known her for years instantly. She was always eager to help the clay club do activities and encouraged all of the other students to show their work and apply to opportunity. She was a bright force in our department and a crusader for the arts. We kept in touch after I graduated and moved away and I was always happy to see what she was up to. My condolences to our to her family and I thank them for sharing her with us at SJSU, she'll always be in my heart ❤️
