“Xiomara left us far too soon, and I find myself searching for the right words to express how deeply her loss is felt. She was more than a staff member, colleague, supervisee, or friend to me—she was truly an angel among us. Her presence was a source of light, warmth, and positivity, and she had a remarkable ability to touch the hearts of everyone she encountered.

Her kindness and compassion were unmatched, and she had an extraordinary gift for making those around her feel valued and loved. Xiomara will forever inspire me to carry forward her legacy of sweetness, joy, and empathy. My thoughts are with her loved ones during this incredibly difficult time. She will always hold a special place in my heart, and I will never forget the beautiful, angelic soul that she was.

Xiomara smiled at me the first time I met her during an interview for her job at custody mental health. And after I hired her, she smiled at me everytime I saw her, up until her last night at work. Now she is smiling down on all of us. She is now our perfect angel. Xiomara was a rare, bright light in the world. Kind, compassionate, cheerful, smart, capable, and she had a heart that never ran out of room for anyone. Xiomara was the definition and meaning of a social worker. She served her mental health patients well, was honorable and due to her family and was more than a coworker. She was our beloved friend we will miss her. But we take comfort in the privilege of having known her. My deepest condolences to her parents and Georgie and her family. And all who loved her.
